

Citizenship

- To be a good High School citizen,
 - we should learn more about the world around us-what is going on!
 - More emphasis should be put on current events/news
 - Organize “school field trips” to help others in need, charities-CARE!
 - we need to be GLOBAL CITIZENS in our rapidly “flattening” world
 - Bring more foreign languages to schools, specifically CHINESE → Major player in business world & world affairs
 - Be responsible- encourage getting jobs, thinking about/planning your future
- Being aware of other cultures, don't be ignorant! Globalization within schools, making students aware—recognition for all cultures, No prejudices, no bias towards others.
- Active participant in clubs!!
- A BETTER GLOBAL CITIZENSHIP starts from a good school citizenship
- High schools should have mission trips to poor areas of Washington state
- →some one who accepts others
- Good Citizenship
 - Always welcoming
 - Accepting of new ideas
 - open to learning
 - Always questioning to push themselves to their potential (with a side comment: I like this point ☺)
- A good citizen is
 - A person who donates their time for volunteer work
 - A leader in community services
 - A person with good values and morals
- Good citizens
 - well rounded →participates in various athletics, clubs, events, community service, etc...
 - known →there is often recognition involved w/these activities

-leadership (with a side comment: agree!)

-impact → good! A unification in a movement to do good.

- Good Citizen:
 - respected by students & adults
 - involved with various areas of high school life-clubs, sports, etc
 - lead by example
- Showing work ethic/demonstrating actually trying
- Community service
- Positive role model, people look up to the student, even teachers
- Show an interest in topics, even if they're really not
- Not only about students, also about Teachers
- Cultural awareness
- A good citizen would demonstrate individuality & kindness. You could judge this by their actions & the people they associate themselves with.
- A good citizen should show a strong work ethic towards their school work. They should contribute ideas in hope of improving their school
- These are common in our school and need to be abolished:
 - theft
 - violence
 - drug use during class

-Skipping class
