Mrs. Boas

An Ode to the Class of 2020

Oh, so many titles can be penned,
For the year when the quarantine would never end.
My lovely seniors, what they say is true.
You are the strongest, bravest, and most steadfast too.

A title to consider...
... depending on your aspiration:
“Snowmeggaton – Not!” A nomenclature fixation.
To snow or not to snow, that was in the forecast.
We would watch news every night for that Northern Arctic Blast.

Then there were closures of streets, homes, and schools
due to the creation of lakes on the roads and parking lot pools.
The rain kept on coming, cascading down streets,
... the year where “School Closures Became Bittersweet.”

Or maybe we could face the elephant in the room,
Covid 19, “The Virus”, Corona, our doom.
What do you say when a villain stops us cold?
We continue to scream, “2020, You’re Out of Control!”

As we consider our brief time together,
It really couldn’t have been much better.
We questioned Achebe, cried with Wiesel.
Then envied Gatsby’s riches, rode Woolf’s mind-carousel.

This year may not have gone as we planned.
We weren’t in class because of the ban.
But each of you will remain, and I am sincere,
The best class there is because...

“The Class of 2020, They Persevered!”

Best wishes to you as you follow your dreams!
Ms. Boas

2019-2020: A year unlike any other
and one we will never forget.
